Internet Phone with 3-port USB 2.0 Hub

Part #: BAP0010

Product Description:

Many of the internet chat programs such as Skype and MSN now support video and audio communications. When adding such functionality to your notebook computer or desktop it often puts a strain on your existing USB ports. To cope with such demands Targus has brought this unique Internet phone with USB hubs to fulfill both the needs of internet-chat application and USB expansions.

Via a single connection to the computer users can enjoy multiple USB expansions, as well as the freedom of internet chat using this product. A quality earphone with integrated mic is packaged with this product to make it a complete solution. A unique feature of one button switch between speaker and headset further protects the privacy of chat and simplifies the switching process.
